CW SECURITIES, LLC
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2005

Note 1 - Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed in the preparation of these financial statements. These policies conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America applicable to brokers and dealers in securities, and have been applied on a consistent basis.

Nature of Activities - CW Securities, LLC (Company) was organized on December 10, 2001, under the laws of the State of Tennessee with an operating agreement in place on February 1, 2002. The State of Tennessee approved a name change to CW Securities, LLC as of November 6, 2002 from the previously registered name of Capital Wealth Securities, LLC. For some time period, the Company used the name Capital Wealth Group, LLC. The Company is registered as an investment advisory firm with the State of Tennessee. On March 26, 2003, the Company was granted membership in the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., (NASD). The Company sells various investments to its clients who are located in states throughout the eastern region of the United States.

The Company is member-managed and, in accordance with the operating agreement, will continue to operate for 30 years (December 21, 2031), unless earlier termination is elected.

Basis of Presentation - The financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting and accounting practices applicable to brokers and dealers in securities.

Income Taxes - The Company is not a taxpaying entity for federal income tax purposes, and no income tax expense has been recorded in the statements. Income of the Company is taxed to the members and included in their individual returns. Tennessee state income tax applicability is limited to investment income as its earnings from operations are subject to self employment tax by its members. State income tax, if any, is minimal.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Company considers money market accounts and Certificates of Deposit (CD) to be cash equivalents. Any highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less are also considered to be cash equivalents. At year end, the Company held one $10,000 CD which matures in September 2006.

Property and Equipment - Property and equipment was donated by the organizing member during 2003. The additions were capitalized at estimated fair market value consisting of office furniture valued at $8,500 and computer equipment of $1,500. The property and equipment is depreciated on a straight line basis over five years.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Note 2 - Subordinated Liabilities

At December 31, 2005 there were no liabilities which were subordinated to claims of general creditors.

Note 3 - Related Party Transactions

The Company engages in transactions with its members and a business controlled by the organizing member.

An investment advisory firm owned by the organizing member of the Company provides facilities, personnel and office supplies. Payments of approximately $8,000 were made by the Company to the member for these services.

During 2005, commissions and fees totaling approximately $1,245,000 were paid to the Company's members, including $6,100 accrued at year end.

Note 4 - Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Uniform Net Capital requirement of the Securities and Exchange Commission under rule 15c3-1, which requires a minimum net capital of the greater of $5,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness, both terms as defined by the rule. The minimum net capital requirement may restrict the payment of dividends. At year end, the Company's net capital amounted to $25,316 and exceeded the capital requirement by $19,485.

The Company's net capital ratio (ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital) may not exceed 15 to 1. The actual net capital ratio at year end was 3.45 to 1.

To The Members
CW Securities, LLC
Knoxville, Tennessee

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of CW Securities, LLC, (the Company) for the year ended December 31, 2005 we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one of more of the internal control components does not reduce, to a relatively low level, the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above that NASD has not been made aware.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the members, management, the SEC, NASD, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
